The peasantry remark, speaking of those who are "out," that it is as well to be shot as starved to death. This proves the existence of social causes, but not the absence of political ones. In fact, tis nonsense to assert that politics have nothing to do unable to control their flocks, and cannot prevent par ties of them from flocking to the mountains, where report speaks true—they live sumptuously compared with their cabin fare. Their Commissariat is abundantly supplied by the neighboring farmers, from fear or sympathy, and their cooking operations are distinctly seen at the base.

Still, after making every necessary deduction for malicious or ignorant misrepresentations, it is evident a state of feeling exists inimical to the Govern ment. It is likewise evident the Government are awar of this, or why this continued influx of troops : As for the troops, they are more harrassed than if they were Taylor, in November, by 3,000 or over.

One fact will answer that better than a hundred assertions : we will soon have an Irish journal again, for those in existence have no claim to that name. Dr. Stone, on arriving at Buffalo, learning that the bey had come to Toronto, followed him, not of course with a view of using coercion to get him to return, but to comply, as the Doctor supposed, with the boy's wishes. In an interview with the boy, the latter expressed to br. Stone his perfect willingness to return. Dr. Stone told him that if he had the slightest desire to remain he would give him his manumission papers, so that he might, if he chose, alterward visit any part of the United States, as a free negro. On the night of the day on which this promise was made, Dr. Stone was dragged from his bed and carried to good, where he remained all night upon a writ sued out on an affidavit of the boy that the Doctor was indebted to him to the amount of $105, for services. On the following day he was liberated on ball to the action being given to the Sherif.—The solicitors of the boy, Messrs, Mutilebury and Hawke, are his present employers. Who first suggested to the boy the dead of making a claim of this cature, is matter of conjecture. There seems to be little doubt to the hear a size, and therefore, he could to lail under the following extraordinary circumstances in June last. Dr. Stone left New Orleans for the North, bringing with him a house slave. When they arrived in Buflalo the boy was surrounded by parties who endeavored to persuade him to leave his master; but, being much attached to the family of Dr. Stone, was unwilling to leave him. The parties who wished to prevail upon him to leave his master, finding him intractable, threatened coercion, and by this means succeeded in prevailing on him to accede to their wishes. Dr. Stone proceeded to Boston, the slave remaining at Buffalo, whence he wrote letters to his master, expressing law willingness to rejoin the family. Before the Doctor had returned from Boston the boy had come over to Canada.

ed to the boy the idea of making a claim of this nature, is matter of conjecture. There seems to be little doubt that the boy had been a slave, and, therefore, he could not legally be entitled to receive compensation for his services. The case will, if not abandoned, come up for trial at the next Spring Assics.

A TRICK UPON STAGE ROBBERS.—There have lately been numerous robberies of trunks from the stages between Erie and Westfield. A novel plan was hit upon last week by Mr. S. Clark, the agent at the latter place, for capturing the rascals who committed the depredations. The Fredenic Censer says, that on Thursday night last as the stage was shoot to leave Westfield for North East, unbeknown to the driver or passengers, he was safely buckled into the hind boot among the trunks, and thus placed in ambush, started off. The stage had proceeded but about a mile, and was ascending a hill, when C. felt somebody at work upon the straps, in the act of unloosing them. This being finally accomplished, and the leather top thrown up by the robbers, Clark sprang out and selzed one of them, upon which the stage passengers were alarmed, and came to the rescue. In the meantime, the other free-booters took to their heels. The bird caught, whose name is Dwight Onley, (of Westfield,) was then taken to Westfield, and on Saturday was arraigned on two charges: 1st. Of having stolen trunks from the stage at previous times, and 2d, for the last attempt at robbery. On the latter charge he was committed for trial and bound over in the sum of $1,000. [Buff. Com. He was accused of stealing $15 from one of the boarders, which he demied, whereupon they tied him, kicked him, beat him wite a board, horsewhipped him, and threw him out on a pile of wood in the yard to die. His cries brought assistance, and the authors of the outrage were arrested and committed for trial. Garnhart is very feeble.
